DETAILED ACTIONContinued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after allowance or after an Office action under Ex Parte Quayle, 25 USPQ 74, 453 O.G. 213 (Comm'r Pat. 1935). Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, prosecution in this application has been reopened pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on ^{CP.} ~~1/11/07~~ ^{3/16/07} has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 38-44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103 as being unpatentable over USPN 5,782,928 Ries et al. in view of USPN 4,123,806 Amstutz et al.

Ries discloses the invention substantially as claimed being a method for securing an acetabular cup to an acetabulum. Shown best in figure 3 Ries discloses an acetabular cup comprising an apex portion 83, an upper rim, and an outer-surface 82 having a hemispherical shape that is aligned with the surface of an imaginary hemisphere from the bottom of the apex portion 85 to the second plane 43. Ries also discloses the step of reaming a hemispherically shaped cavity into said acetabulum that is smaller than the largest diameter 68 of the cup in order to form an interference fit. However, Ries does not disclose that the lower plane 43 is about 1 millimeter less than a complete hemisphere.

With reference to Figure 6, Amstutz discloses an acetabular cup 18 having an apex and upper rim 58 that is configured to be press-fit into a cavity prepared in the acetabulum. Amstutz discloses a cup 18 that can be precisely hemispherical or 1 or 2 millimeters less than a hemisphere. This shape would then render a distance (D) between the "great circle" and the lower plane of the imaginary hemisphere within the applicants claimed range (6: 5-8). Amstutz further discloses a bearing insert 16 configured to be received with the acetabular cup 18 and is further configured to mate with head portion of the femur 12. The cup 18 and its upper rim 58 lie flush with the surface of the cavity of the acetabulum (7:36-42). The device of Amstutz is in the same field of endeavor teaches the less than hemispherical shape for the purpose of avoiding impingement of the cup.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to combine the less than hemispherical shape taught by Amstutz with the device of Ries in order to prevent impingement of the cup.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 38-44 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
